

"Jazz washes away the dust of everyday life." - Art Blakey

DREW DAVIDSEN spin cycle

"Spin Cycle," is the title track of Drew Davidsen's sparkling new project, featuring fresh, clean grooves.

In this wholly original, upbeat tune, he continues to demonstrate his mastery of the fretboard. The album, Spin Cycle, inspired by the likes of Acoustic Alchemy, Steve Lukather and George Benson, fuses jazz with pop, funk, rock, blues, Latin and even disco. Drew Davidsen comes 'around again' with a boatload of inventive hooks to show us how creative, skillful, and fun his composing is.

Recorded in Franklin, Tennessee, produced by Creative Soul Jazz's Eric Copeland, and mixed by Grammy Award winning engineer, Bill Whittington, Spin Cycle brings us Davidsen's signature sound that walks the breathtaking high-wire between live-sounding improvisation and meticulous technique. The players on the project include Jay Rowe from Special EFX on keys, as well as Copeland, John Hammond, Gary Lunn, and Brian Fullen from Player A, Creative Soul Jazz's new Session Player Super Group.

Drew Davidsen (Best New Artist Nominee by both American Smooth Jazz Awards 2010 and Oasis Contemporary Jazz Awards 2011), released his first CD, This Journey in 2008; in 2009 "Astro," a tune from Davidsen's second solo effort Around (Again), logged an impressive 17 weeks on the Smooth Jazz Top 20. In 2010 his holiday album, We 3 Stringz rose quickly to #2 on the Seasonal Smooth Jazz Chart.

The tunes on Spin Cycle are clean out of the machine: pressed, folded, and ready to wear!
